Antonia Kidman

Antonia Kidman wants the best for her own family and her roles as a media and women's ambassador show how effective and respected she is as an advocate for bringing information about living well to Australian women and their families.

Preferring elegance over glitz and classic natural beauty over sheer glamour, Antonia nevertheless embodies the style that contemporary women crave – a blend of simplicity and purity, with a healthy taste for individual expression and originality. Antonia is ANZ Bank's 'Be Money Confident' ambassador and is the face of motherhood with her contemporary lifestyle as the host of and a litany of other lifestyle programs.

Antonia has just finished a collaboration with nutritionalist, Julie Wood, to produce "feeding fussy eaters" to be released by HarperCollins in October 2009 and is currently writing her own book.
